Echo – 50ml Refill Jar

Refillable cosmetics and skincare packaging is a practical way for beauty, luxury and sustainability to co-exist. For a more environmentally conscious approach to consumption and a reduction in plastic waste, the ‘Echo 50ml Refill Jar’ gives consumers the opportunity to hygienically replace the inner pod with new product again… and again… and again… while retaining a stylish outer pack for a more eco-friendly approach to skincare packaging that doesn’t compromise on quality. This new rechargeable skincare packaging has a stunning, premium aesthetic; the thick-walled PETG outer jar combines with an easy to replace, refillable PP inner jar that is ideally suited to creams and skincare treatments. HCP’s extensive decoration and finishing capabilities give brands the freedom to enhance the outer jar and cap inline with their brand identity; ensuring longevity, capturing the attention of the discerning beauty consumer and giving the retained packaging luxurious, aspirational appeal.
